

E-Learning: «Diversity & Inclusion—Facilitating and Promoting Diversity»

The majority of companies are now making a deliberate decision to favor diversity. International cooperation, demographic changes, women in management positions and individuality in the workplace — the general conditions for professional and private life have changed and there is a demand for tolerance and respect in our diverse society. But what does "diversity" actually mean? What are the advantages of diversity for a company? And how can managers promote this diversity step by step and establish it as an integral corporate value? That is what this e-learning course is all about.

Main topics

Understanding why diversity is becoming increasingly important in companies

Recognizing diversity as a resource and success factor

Recognizing and being able to grasp the different dimensions of diversity

Understanding diversity management as a holistic strategy

Recognizing and promoting the existing diversity in the team, as well as individual potential

Target group

Managers who lead diverse teams

Executives who want to be role models within the company

Managers who want to put diversity to good use in the company

To book this E-Learning, please use this link anmeldung@zfu.ch.

We do also offer our E-learnings as in-house trainings. Contact us and we will be happy to make you a special offer.